Luncheon Lecture Series

The Greater Good: How Philanthropy Saves American Capitalism

Presented by:
Claire Gaudiani
Senior Research Scholar
at the Yale Law School

Courtesy of:
The One Percent Club

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 2003
12:00 PM MAIN LOUNGE

Claire Gaudiani

Claire L. Gaudiani is currently Senior Research Scholar at the Yale Law School where she has worked to complete a book entitled The Greater Good: How Philanthropy Saves American Capitalism. This book, published by New York Times-Henry Holt, with a September 10, 2003 publication date, addresses a wide audience with stories from American history, data and survey results that illustrate the book's thesis: that Americans are not generous because we are rich, but rich because we are generous.

Dr. Gaudiani served for 13 years as President of Connecticut College. Under her leadership from 1988-2001, Connecticut College quintupled its endowment and rose in the influential U.S. News and World Report survey from No. 41 to the mid-20's. Applications for admission rose a total of 40 percent over the last five years. "A Decade of Achievement" sets forth the achievements of Connecticut College people, programs and policies from 1988-1998, under Dr. Gaudiani's leadership.

Dr. Gaudiani served for five years as the volunteer president of the non-profit New London Development Corporation and remains on the Board of the corporation, which is dedicated to building the tax base, creating jobs and improving the quality of life for all citizens of New London. Since 1997, this corporation has worked with the City Council, the State of Connecticut, Pfizer Inc. and many citizens and developers. Pfizer opened its new $300 million Global Research & Development Facility on June 8th, 2001 adding 2100 jobs and a dramatic change to New London's tax base. The NLDC has received an Annie E.

Casey Foundation grant (among other funds) to support its Social Justice initiatives to improve early and K-8 education after-school programs, housing and job-readiness for New London's citizens.

Dr. Gaudiani holds a Ph.D. and master's degree in French literature from Indiana University and a bachelor's degree, also in French, from Connecticut College. She has served on the boards of numerous for-profit and not-for-profit enterprises including The Henry Luce Foundation, MBIA Inc., the Shubert Theatre, the Connecticut Center for School Change, Connecticut Legal Services Advisory Board, Public Radio International and Citizens Bank. She is a trustee of WPI (Worcester Polytechnic Institute.) Dr. Gaudiani was elected a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Phi Beta Kappa, the PBK Society, and to the Century Association. She has received ten honorary doctorates.

Dr. Gaudiani is the author of six books and monographs and more than 80 articles. She is a frequent speaker both nationally and internationally on topics related to education, philanthropy, ethics, and the role of colleges in civil society.

Please make your reservations for the Luncheon Lecture Series by calling 612-332-2292 ext. 326 or by e-mail at reservations@mplsclub.org.

Tables are open seating.

A luncheon is provided for $14.95 per person. Guests are welcome.

If you are not a Minneapolis Club member, mention you are Joe Selvaggio's guest and have your lunch charged to Joe's #. But please be sure to reimburse him or The 1% Club at the luncheon.

Hill Fellowship Update

Save the date: December 11, 2003

Noon lecture at the HHH Institute of Public Affairs will be given by Joseph K. Selvaggio, the first Louis W. Hill, Jr. Fellow. Initiated in 2003 by the Grotto and Northwest Area Foundations to recognize leadership in the areas of community, leadership, and philanthropy, the fellowship commemorates the anniversary of the birth of Mr. Hill.

By the time you receive this newsletter all 25 volunteers will have been interviewed, and the questionnaire will be in your hands. We'd appreciate your prompt participation.

We also will have completed two focus groups or discussions:

- 1) involving CEOs of foundations who will give their views on the Federal Government's effort to have the foundations pay out the full 5% of assets excluding administrative expenses, and
- 2) involving CEOs (past and present) of large for-profit Corporations giving their views on how present CEOs can be effectively involved in our community.

Thank you for your interest. We'll continue to keep you informed.
